Since its inception in 1987, Bhartiya City Developers ventured into real estate business after two decades of its presence in designing several international brands. Its journey from designing apparels to designing homes is commendable. The thought that 'a good design makes anyone happy, be it apparels or homes?' encouraged the group to open its creative wings in the real estate sector. The wide range of hotel, retail and residential projects designed by Bhartiya City witness urban planners and architects of international repute from New York, Amsterdam, and Singapore.
