Description

With more than thirty years of cutting-edge architecture and development experience, County 107 is an extraordinary, opulent offering made by the nation's most ambitious and innovative brains and reserved for a select few. It is India's first housing project that has an "Elevated Walkway". An aerial walkway spanning the County landscape will run throughout the project, linking different areas and acting as a central nervous system. The walkway will traverse in and out across the County's tower lobbies and outdoor landscape, interspersed with expressly designated activity zones.

If you love nature as much as we do, County 107 will give you real trees for your balcony, which will act as a natural filter. The project is committed to IGBC's Platinum Green Building certification. Prepare to enjoy your morning coffee under your own tree as a result. You may explore every inch of the County 107 platinum green environment because there is no driveway, no parking, and no automotive movement on the ground. Instead, unique golf carts are used to transport you throughout the project.
