Levidia Group is a real estate company. One of the key problems the society is facing these days is the shortfall in quality affordable housing. Housing affordability is a multidimensional issue which involves income, housing prices and housing availability. There is a vast gap between the price of the house/ flats available in the market and income of the prospective customers. Low wage employment, high market housing costs, the lack of affordable units, and the overall high cost of living contribute to the problem.
